Knowledge Base

Provisional Period:

- Provision period for a newly joining employee is 4 months
- While an employee is in a provision period he / she is not allowed to take leave.

Leave policy:

- Employees will earn 1 leave per month served in the company. At the end of the year non taken leaves will be encashed and will not be taken forward.
- Employee will be allowed for 4 sick leaves in a year
- Maternity leave will be allowed for 3 month.
- Informing about your leave 4 days prior or failing might result in loss of pay.

Resignation policy:

- Employees will have to provide intimation 30 working days before leaving.
- Employees will have to work for a full working month to be eligible for a monthly salary.
- “In the event an employee fails to serve the required notice period, the company reserves the right to recover the salary equivalent to the unserved notice period, as per the terms of the employment agreement. Such recovery may be adjusted against the employee's Full & Final Settlement.”

Working hours:

- Employees will serve for a minimum of 9 hours to amount for a full day. Which will be flexible.
- Employees will serve for a minimum of 5 hours to amount for a half day. Which will be flexible.
- Break time will be 1 hour for lunch and 15 mins for tea.
- 1st, 3rd and 5th Saturday holiday.
- For every day after 3 allowed days if an employee does not complete working hours half day would be calculated.

National holidays to be considered:

- 01/01 - New year
- 26/01 - Republic day
- March - Holi
- 01/05 - Maharashtra day
- 15/08 - Independence day
- September - Ganesh Chaturthi
- 02/10 - Gandhi jayanti

- October - Dussehra
- October/November - Diwali (3 days)
- 25/12 - Christmas

Rewards and Remunerations:

- Employees will be given a referral bonus of 5000 on the next salary if the employee he referred to has earned one full salary.

Work Ethics:

- Employees are not allowed to use any external storage devices inside the company.
- Employees are not allowed to work while he / she is drunk.
- A project with no documentation is an unfinished project.